3) Educational program

The educational proposal of the “Century Jamboree” is based on the basic concepts of the Educational Project of the Scouts of Brazil, seeking to stimulate in young people the ability to play, dream, venture out, create, and reflect, as privileged means for them to discover their own identity, learning to live with other people, exploring the world and transforming realities. In the year in which we celebrate our centenary, we invite scouts to reflect, freely and responsibly, on how the Scout values are being lived in their lives and on how these can help build a more just and fraternal society.

We intend the National Jamboree to offer the opportunity for youth to experience educational experiences close to nature, the opportunity to share experiences and dialogue, in addition to serving as an environment of friendship and integration, becoming a space to inform, raise awareness and commit participants to actions that help build a better world.

The fundamental principles that guide the National Scout Jamboree are:

- To secure, primarily, a safe and inclusive space for everybody, enabling self-development through positive and healthy interpersonal relations;
- Strengthen the educational environment in all aspects of the event, through the experience of the Scout Educational Method, in a space of mutual learning and shared responsibilities;
- Provide experiences that encourage the scouts to learn about the centenary history of the Scouts of Brazil, to reflect on the values of Scouting and its commitment to the future;
- Challenge to think differently, through the experience of transforming experiences;
- To provide an environment where Sustainable Development is valued, especially through the responsible use of resources, care for nature, promotion of a culture of peace and understanding, and work in favor of values and attitudes oriented towards coexistence.

4) Program

The Program of the National Jamboree is:

- Ceremonies: Including the opening, closing, and commemorative ceremonies of the Centenary of the Scouts of Brazil. These will be inspiring moments where participants can celebrate the Scout Fraternity, reinforce their values, and have fun.
- Night activities: activities carried out in the subcamps, such as the City Fair, Scout Night, and Folklore Festival. In addition to these, a special show will also be held to commemorate the Centenary of the Scouts of Brazil;

- Special Activities: including Pre-Jamboree Activities, Arrival Activities, Centennial Badge, and Vitalizing Activities for those free time moments;
- Brazil Sustainable Development Village: The activities offered by Aldeia Brasil will have as its main objective to allow scouts to explore the main challenges that the world faces, acquire skills to act in front of these issues in their own communities, giving special emphasis on the Challenges of Sustainable Development Goals established by the UN.
- Peace Grove: It will be a space specially designed for the participants to expand their relationship with their faith or belief, strengthen concepts of peace and understanding, as well as an environment where manifestations of inclusion and diversity are valued;
- Scout Center: Stands where each Scout Region can show a little of its culture, offer activities and expose good practices;

More details on the activities program will be presented in future bulletins.

5) Camp Structure and Organization

- Responsibility, Coordination, and Organization of the event: The responsibility for holding the event lies with the Scouts of Brazil. The guidelines are defined by the Organizing Committee, composed of elected members of the National Executive Board and a representative of the Regional Board of UEB/SP and UEB/MG. - Villages and Subcamps: The field will be divided into 2 Villages, one of the Scout Branch and the other of the Adventures Branch. Each Village will consist of 4 subcamps, each containing up to 20 troops. Subcamps will be managed by teams composed of 4 members, of which one will be designated as Subcamp Chief.
- Troops, patrols, and scout leaders: Each troop will consist of 4 patrols, each with 9 young people and 1 scout leader who will accompany them, totaling 40 people. One of the Scouts will be designated as Troop Leader.
- Camping Area and Field Materials: Each troop will have an approximate area of 24 x 24 meters, where they will have to install the 4 patrols and the 4 scout leaders. In this space, each patrol should set up its own kitchen, where meals will be served (breakfast, lunch, and dinner). - Shared responsibility: The National Jamboree is a space for learning and shared responsibility, which uses the Scout Educational Method as a reference, where self-education and the development of autonomy are valued. This means that our educational proposal must be present at all times during the Jamboree, both in activities and in the routines of the camp. In this way, participants are also responsible for the proper use, cleaning, and maintenance of common areas (subcamps, bathrooms, kitchens, etc.) and must be guided by Scouts to collaborate in these processes, as part of their educational experience and life in the subcamp.
